

Kova Design Pro manages the entire design center process. Customers are able to dynamically select option choices from flooring to appliances to cabinets and more. Kova's graphic presentation system provides an organized process to effectively sell options enabling you to sell more options and customers will have a more enjoyable experience. Your customers can even access the Design Center at their leisure and shop the available choices to create their dream home via the internet.

Engage customers in the design process with Interactive Option and Color Selections. Use Apple's iPad to present design choices, view pictures, renderings and detailed descriptions of options. Track completed selections categories to ensure that nothing is missed. Option & selection rules ensure only sellable combinations are shown.

Manage all design contract and selections documents through Kova. Generate selections worksheets and option contracts. Integrate the design process with accounting, sales and construction. Track option deposits.

Customize your plans with customers through custom change requests. Redline plans and share with purchasing & construction electronically. Create workflow approval process to manage sign-offs for custom changes.

"We have used several software programs in an attempt to manage our design center selections process and KOVA by far is the best solution for our business. KOVA has allowed us to offer more choices for our customers through streamlined processes and interactive selections tools with customers. Our option sales have increased significantly and we shortened our selections process substantially."
